NATURAL PERCH

Nine out-of-the-ordinary stools that steal the scene

Selection by Kendra Jackson / Photography by Darren Rigo

1 LINEO BY CRASSEVIG

The appeal of this lean stool lies in the simplicity of its parts - a curved wooden surface and two open-frame metal supports. $425, crassevig.com, augustusjones.com

2 OTTO BY CRASSEVIG

A steel tube wraps around the circular seat of Otto to form the footrest, and a small lever, no bigger than a pencil, operates the pneumatic height adjuster. $770, crassevig.com, augustusjones.com

3 REVOLVER BY HAY

Powder-coated in poppy red, this steel perch looks stationary, but it actually spins 360 degrees. $335, hay.dk, themodernshop.ca

4 CORKTOWN BY HOLLIS+MORRIS

The Toronto studio's cold-rolled steel stools are becoming regular fixtures at local retailers and bistros - you can spot them by their distinctive footrests. From $470, hollismorris.com

5 CROSSHATCH BY GEIGER

The vintage feel of this sturdy seat has been given a contemporary lift with a soft platinum wash that shows off the grain of the ash. From $1,800, geigerfurniture.com

6 PARK PLACE BY AVENUE ROAD

Designed by Yabu Pushelberg, Park Place is a stunner with its laser-cut steel profile matched with a soft leather seat and backrest. $5,700, avenue-road.com

7 GARRISON BY STACKLAB AND REBART

The two studios salvaged rebar from an old bridge and are now casting the metal into bracket-shaped stools that double as side tables. From $1,950, stacklab.ca, rebart.ca

8 SPINE BY SPACE COPENHAGEN

Originally designed for a restaurant, the Spine bar stool by Space Copenhagen is now part of a larger seating family. $1,500, spacecph.dk, mjolk.ca

9 PALMERSTON BY COOLICAN & COMPANY

Classically turned and tapered legs never go out of style. Palmerston is handmade from Ontario white oak and finished with a non-VOC oil. $540, coolicanandcompany.com
